About This Game

This may seem like a simple game to entertain, without more pretensions than that, but if philosophy hides something else. In this game you drive to a cube that has to be placed correctly to go through a wall with holes, if it is not placed well it will not pass and it will lose.

This symbolizes how the cube (a person) has to be placed in the right way to pass each level (behave as society dictates) if you do not want to lose

This points out how society obliges individuals to behave in the way society dictates, and if you do not behave like that, you are out, and you "lose" in life.

Pass the wall is an easy and simple indie game needed of good reflexes and fast thinking to play. The goal of "Pass the wall" is to get through every wall that you find every few seconds. All the walls have holes in them, 1 hole for the cube you are controlling and the rest of the holes are in the same position as the columns. Enjoyable gameplay and lots of fun will be achieved while playing

What to expect:

-Good sound effects and music while playing

-Best score will be stored in the game, you can try to beat your highscore

-Apart from passing the wall, you can take points passing through collectible objetets to get more points

-The walls' order is compleatly random, so every time you play will seem different to the previous time

How to play:

-You just need to get a mouse to use the menus and play
