A: I was able to work around this by running "cut" on the file to separate the lines with newlines instead of carriage returns. I wasn't able to create a file containing just the carriage return with a newline in the second line with cut and pasted the output into the file: # vim /home/work/server/data/secret.txt A file containing only three lines with a carriage return was a perfect separator, and while I haven't used cut as I would expect it to work with just a carriage return, it can probably be modified to do so too. Q: Reference (book, article, or paper) for: Formulas for numbers $x,y$ s.t. $x \le y \le 2x$ I mean Mordell's theorem (in $\mathbb{Q}$ or $\mathbb{Z}$ (frac{1}{2})$). Thank you very much in advance! Edit: I prefer a reference where the proof of Mordell's theorem doesn't exceed 10 pages. A: A standard reference for this is Section 7 of Chapter 5 of Diamond and Shurman, A first course in $p$-adic numbers, Springer-Verlag, New York, 1995. They discuss it at length on page 82; the result is Theorem 7.24, namely that if $n$ The present invention relates to a method of manufacturing a semiconductor device, more specifically, relates to a method of manufacturing a verification and multi-layered wiring layer of a semiconductor device (memory cell array). In order to realize such miniaturization and multi-layering of the multi-layered wiring layer, in a conventional semiconductor device, a polurality of memory cell array layers are
